

The Century Project – Update

In our ongoing commitment to keep Team Members informed, below are the updates for the proposed renovation of the Space Needle.

Century Project Updates:

- We are in building code review with the City.
 - We submitted building permits to the City in November.
 - This is an extensive back-and-forth process between the City and the architects to understand the details of our planned renovation.
 - We expect the process to take until at least May to complete.
- We are working with a top restaurant designer.
 - Our restaurant designer Adam Tihany was in town for in-person meetings with the F&B team and the architects.
 - Adam is known around the globe for creating unique luxury interiors for restaurants, such as Per Se New York, At.mosphere at the Burj Khalifa, and Aureole Las Vegas.
- As part of the feasibility process, we are testing current systems and potential materials.
 - We are testing lighting configurations for the outside of the Needle and how new glass would react to the nighttime lighting.
 - We are also continuing to test glass quality through physical mockups and sample glass reviews.

The Board of Directors and Wright Family are closely monitoring the project and continue to support moving forward with the feasibility process. The feasibility for a project of this scale is very complex with many moving parts. We will continue to update you regularly on progress.

We'll schedule several Team Member information meetings in February to answer additional questions.
